Lent 2023

Dear brothers and sisters in Christ,

Whether it's an annual check-up with the doctor, a tune up of your car or a review with your boss, we have periodic assessments to evaluate performance and to make adjustments so as to maximize the likelihood that we and the things we use can accomplish their intended end. The same is true in our faith lives.

Lent is a time of self-examination and adjustment that better prepares us to celebrate Easter and to attain the end for which God created us, Heaven. The measure of that examination is the Gospel, including the Commandments and the Beatitudes.

Over time, the demands of daily life, the currents of our culture and sin can cause us to drift, lose focus and neglect our proper spiritual priorities. We can slacken in our zeal for the faith, fidelity to prayer and selfless love of God and neighbor. Lent calls us back. It is a holy season that through deeper prayer, more focused penance and greater almsgiving re-orients us to a life centered on Christ, the abundance of His spiritual blessings and a selfless generosity towards others. In that call and in our response, we find a deep joy, meaning and a hope that the world cannot give. We also find strength.

In today's Gospel, Jesus was led by the Spirit into the desert where He fasted for forty days. He was tempted by the Devil with bodily comforts (bread), pride (putting God to the test) and power (all the kingdoms of the world). All those temptations He rejected pointing us towards greater comforts (the Word of God), humility (trusting, not testing God) and true strength (worship and service of God). Rejecting those temptations and focusing on those greater goods, the Devil fled and angels ministered to Jesus. Similarly, when we undergo these forty days of prayer, penance and almsgiving, reflecting upon God's promises, trusting in Him and giving Him our praise, worship and honor, we will be strengthened in our faith, hope and love. Unlike Jesus, we are sinners and our forty-day Lent should include a good confession so that in that act of faith and humility we can experience the great peace of His mercy.

I pray that we all may make the most of Lent so that at Easter, renewed in our faith, we may celebrate the joy of the Resurrection not just as Christ's triumph but as the hope and promise of all who follow Him.

With every prayerful best wish, I remain

Sincerely yours in Christ,

+ Robert J. McManus
